NEW LOOK

Nearly twenty years ago, when Stacy Lloyd and Gerry Webb founded a weekly paper to record the sport of their neighbors in Northern Virginia, there arose the question of location. Stacy had recently acquired the Blue Ridge Press in Berryville on the west side of the Blue Ridge. Gerry was hunting with the packs around Middleburg, east of the Blue Ridge and 25 miles away, where most of his friends also lived. He insisted that the editorial offices be located there, in spite of the obvious advantages of having them under the same roof as the printing plant.

So was born the Middleburg Chronicle. In a few years its circle of readers grew so that it became a national, instead of a local paper. There were other changes involving name, ownership, staff, contents, format and paper. One thing did not change, however,—there was and is no printing plant in Middleburg. The inconvenience and inefficiency of the 25 mile gap between editorial and printing grew with the paper. Because of these difficulties, it was often the printer who had to make last minute decisions as to what was left in or out of The Chronicle.

Printing is divided roughly into two operations—setting the copy in type, known as composition, and running that type through the presses, technically known as printing. The separation of composition and editorial departments is what makes for trouble. For more than a year The Chronicle has been testing two machines which would enable us to do our own composition work in Middleburg. One is a photographic machine which produces the big letters and symbols used in headlines and advertising copy. The other, a combination of two electric typewriters of which one is automatic, produces the body type. The result is sent to the printer in page form to be photographed and printed by the offset process of photo-lithography. Because the whole procedure is more efficient it is also cheaper.

Last week these machines were delivered to our Middleburg offices: As they gradually go into operation there will be some changes in the appearance of The Chronicle. Two of them are apparent in this issue. Since the paper is being printed four pages to a sheet (instead of two) the length of each column is now 10 instead of 10½ inches, conforming with the standard size of such other horse publications as the Blood Horse, the Horseman's Journal and the Thoroughbred of California, which incidentally is being composed on machines much like ours. The other immediate change is the better grade of paper and the consequent clearer photographs which are characteristic of offset.

Gradually our own work will replace the linotype composition which will see us through this conversion and which will continue to be available in case of emergency. The new type will be a shade smaller (about three lines to the column) which will make up for the shorter column; it will also be crisper and more legible. There will be more variation in type faces and more pictures, particularly of races and other events held the previous Saturday. For a while there will undoubtedly be more mistakes as we get used to the new operation. But, if you will bear with us, we think that we can soon mail you each week a better Chronicle than ever.

Susan Hamilton, riding Lady Jane, member of the Aylmer Road District of the Ottawa Valley Branch of The Pony Club, displays trophy presented by Miss Barbara May, District Commissioner, to the member most nearly approaching Pony Club standards in neatness of rider, horse and tack. Trophy was won at recent gymkhana judged by Major General and Mrs. C. C. Mann.

Dear Sir:

Congratulations on your excellent editorial re suitable riding clothes for children. Barbara Kemp and I were just talking along those lines the other day and I heartily agree with you. If you'll notice the picture of Susan Hamilton who won the "neatness" trophy of the Ottawa Valley Pony Club, I'm sure you'll agree that she looks suitably dressed in a neat, workman-like outfit for a girl of her age.

Sincerely,
Barbara May

REVIEW OF THE WEEK

More Races For Females Seen As Tracks Run Purses To $156,500

Raleigh Burroughs

A few years ago, members of the Turf cognoscente used to look at one another and say, "What we need is more races for females." Even though practically no races were drawn up for the horses exclusively, the feeling was that the sex allowance wasn't enough—that the girl equines should have races of their own.

Fillies and mares, it was pointed out, should have more opportunities to prove their quality, in order that a better appraisal of their intrinsic worth might be made by people who were contemplating sending said fillies and mares to the breeding farms.

Of course, all horsefolk send all their mares to the stud after they are through racing, no matter what their intrinsic worth seems to be, but it's always nice knowing.

Well, racing secretaries and track managements "in response to widespread demand" added numerous events for lady Thoroughbreds. These start with the cheapest of claiming races and run up to $156,500, the gross value of the Delaware Handicap.

Delaware Park, incidentally, has opened all the stops on this female business and puts on a "Distaff Big Three" which is made up of The Oaks, the New Castle and the Delaware Handicaps.

The Oaks of course is for three-year-olds, exclusively, but older performers can get into the other two.

King Ranch's Dotted Line won The Oaks and Calumet Farm's Miz Clementine took the New Castle. The latter, coupled with Amoret, was made the choice for the Delaware, June 30.

The race was run in Kentucky Derby, or electric rabbit style—that is, the boys rush their horses to the front as soon as possible on the theory that if they don't get on the front end, they'll be blocked and lose all.

Everyone (bar a few jockeys) knows that it is virtually impossible for 15 horses to be in front at the same time, though it doesn't mean they can't try it but it's fatiguing.

Blue Sparkler quickly raced to the front as the mile-and-a-quarter gallop got under way, which was according to pattern.

The surprising part was in the eagerness of Anderson on Parlo and Hartack on Miz Clementine to try to get the lead.

Parlo never quite made it, but Miz Clementine caught Blue Sparkler before they had gone a mile, and the pair had a pretty good duel for about three-sixteenths.

While they were concentrating on each other, Manotick, Flower Bowl and Open Sesame hurried past.

At the end, it was Brookmeade Stable's Flower Bowl by two lengths, with Manotick getting second place, three-quarters of a length ahead of Open Sesame. Miz Clementine was fourth, a head behind the show horse.

Preston Burch has been bringing Flower Bowl along carefully for many months. He had her ready for this one and his strategy, as carried out by jockey Logan Batcheller, worked to perfection. The tactics employed called for allowing the over-eager ones to run themselves into the ground and then go past as they tired.

The wild fractions and moderate final time indicate that if the rider on any of the early contenders had a clock in his head it wasn't working.

Blue Sparkler went the quarter in 21 4-5 seconds, the half in 45 1-5 and the three-quarters in 1:10 1-5. Miz Clementine took over in time to finish the mile in 1:36 2-5.

The time for the ten furlongs, 2:03 flat, is 2 3-5 seconds slower than the track mark.

Flower Bowl, a four-year-old daughter of *Alibhai, from the *Beau Pere mare, Flower Bed, earned $104,875. Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, proprietress of Brookmeade, received an additional $5,000 as the breeder and nominator of the winner, plus a handsome gold bowl as a memento of the occasion. Preston Burch and Logan Batcheller were given gold cigarette cases. Persons not affiliated with the stable, but who were correct in appraising the investment potential of the entry, were paid $33.80 for each $2 certificate.

The Delaware prize puts Flower Bowl at $121,075 for the year. She has 3 wins, 3 seconds and 2 thirds in 11 starts.

Last year she earned $11,200 for 3 wins and a second in 12 tries.

John A. Morris's Missile registered his first victory in an added-money event when he defeated Incaseofire by one length in the 5 1-2 furlong Dover Stakes on June 27. The race is for two-year-olds.

The favored Jolly Jack was third and Dancing Feet, fourth.

Missile has won 3 of his 5 starts and been third once.

The $11,725 collected for the Dover gives him a total of $17,630.

The product of the mating of War Relic with *Heliopolis' daughter, Inajiffy, Missile was bred by Crown Crest Farm. Mr. Morris bought the colt for $11,000 at Keeneland last year.

Woody Stevens trains for Mr. Morris; Conn McCreary had the mount in the Dover.

A sure way to get good odds on a horse is to take one that is in a race with Nashua. There is no guarantee that you'll collect, of course, because Nashua wins about three-quarters of his races, but if you select the right one on a day that the syndicates colt loses, you're in the chips.

The day of the Carter Handicap (June 30) seemed a good one to bet on Nashua, rather than against him, as the price was better than even money, the biggest since he whipped Swaps in their match at Arlington Park last summer. But it just wasn't Nashua's day.

Maybe it was the 130 pounds. He

Mrs. O. Phipps' Neji The Winner Over A Field Of Eleven In The Inddian River Steeplechase

The Scribe

June 26

In spite of his good form on the flat Montpelier's Dromond looked small and almost undistinguished in the paddock beside so many strapping big horses. One of this group was Dancing Jay who quickly took the lead when Now It's Time gave way after a short spurt. Going into the clubhouse turn, Mycroft laid in too close to the turn, struck one of the beacons and left the course. Dromond, never worse than 4th, moved steadily up behind Dancing Jay. Going into the last fence Albert Foot on Dromond made one of his bold driving moves, flying over the last obstacle and easily pulling away in the stretch. Tall Mound had jumped his way into 3rd place behind Dancing Jay.

June 27

Although Crag and Billing Bear were favored in the betting, Swords' Point certainly had to be a strong factor on his good third, last week, behind Flaming Comet.

Except for a brief flash by Johnny Scarlet and then Espantoon, Swords' Point held the lead all the way. *Another Hyacinth was right there behind him and in the stretch fought it out with Billing Bear who, jumping badly at the start, trailed until the last half mile where he tried to make it up all at once. Apprentice R. Chavis saved 2nd money for *Another Hyacinth by a hard driving finish.

June 28

Greatly benefiting by a well judged ride by Paddy Smithwick, the 9-year-old *Galation scored a victory in this mile and 3-4 over hurdles. It was Mielalson that set the pace for the first mile followed briefly by Tippy Do and then Indian Fire with Galation galloping along, almost disinterestedly, in the middle. Down the far side the second time around Paddy began the long unhurried move that brought him to the front. Rebel Coat moved at the same time, but could not quite get to the winner. Phi Beta Kappa, who had bad luck in his last two starts, after a cautious beginning made a strong finish just missing third money behind Hot and Cold.

Indian River Steeplechase

The Indian River Steeplechase at 2 1-2 miles came up as one of the best stakes in recent years. There were 11 starters almost any one of which (on his best effort—and at the weights) must be considered a threat to the mighty Neji. It was a great pity that it had to be marred by a frightening and freakish accident. Sundowner, looking big and settled after a 2 year lay-off from an injury, went to the front setting a good steady pace. In the run by the stand and down the far side to the 7th fence, he stayed in front with the rest well bunched behind him. Here he made a bad bobble, losing his rider and his bridle. *Carafar sprang into the lead, running with great ease and jumping quicker than in his last race. The loose and unbridled Sundowner continued to jump with the leaders until he ran out into the centerfield at the water. Straight on he ran, heading for the middle of the clubhouse turn. An outrider attempted to intercept him, but was helpless, having nothing to hold him by. Now everyone realized what was almost inevitable as Sundowner galloped on, jumping the little hedge on the inside of the turn at the instant the field, headed by Neji and *Carafar, reached the same spot. Dooly Adams on the inside turned his horse in time to avoid a direct collision, but Scotty Schulhofer could not see the danger until too late. The full impact hit *Carafar on the head and shoulder spinning him around and hurling his rider to the ground. Caste, out of trouble and quick to find an opening, went to the front. Hyvania rushed in to fill the breach, while Neji recovered from his near upset. Caste still held the lead at the last fence with Neji steadily regaining his lost ground, and the rest of the field close behind them. What a race it was from here in. Carthage, who was last jumping the 2nd fence from home, began to make a very belated move way on the outside, and flew the last fence with six horses still in front of him. Through the stretch Carthage gained slowly to overtake Caste for 2nd money. Although only a nose separated the first two horses Neji proved his greatness by overcoming such a set back. Gil Haus did a fine job of handicapping and is to be congratulated on a splendid race. Schulhofer, we learned, broke his leg, but it was a clean break below the knee with no complications. So it will not be too long before this fine rider will be back at it. The luckless *Carafar apparently suffered only a nosebleed, while Sundowner got off with minor cuts.

Port Call Surprise Winner—Rhett Entry Gets Lead and Holds It To Win By Wide Margin

Campbell Brown

The frustrated wails which arose from sundry customers following the running of the third race at Arlington Park on Friday, June 22, were reminiscent of the complaints of a character known to this deponent who regarded himself privileged above incarceration. As usual, it turned out finally that he wasn't. Grasping and rattling the bars of his cell door, he gave vent to his personal misere, the burden of which was, "You can't do this to me!"

But they had, and Port Call did, and the faithful or speculative who backed him were rewarded with $33.20 across the board.

Harry Rhett has been sending horses over jumps since 'way before there has been organized steeplechasing in the middle South and West. Success has not been uniform, but, whenever there was a race and his horses fit, they have gone out. There has been no holding out of horses for a later big one, at the possible expense of a good field for somebody's meeting; he has taken his losses and his winnings with the same affable smile, and has accepted congratulations as heartily as he has proffered them.

Port Call, under Jimmy Walker's aggressive handling, got out in front and stayed there. Some of the post-race criticism was that he had slanted across his jumps; if so, he did nobody any harm by so doing, for nobody was close enough. It was also averred that he took out big chunks of hurdle; whether he cheated a little over his jumps, the fact remains that he stood up to do it.

Despite recorded information to the contrary, the start was something less than good, with three horses flatfooted and a fourth looking into the infield. Port Call was away first over the first hurdle, well in advance of his field, and it is probably well that he was, for a traffic situation developed behind him.

The culprit was Omaha Traveler, on whom Mr. Buder took a hefty pull at the left rein going toward the jump. The horse responded promptly, cutting across oncoming horses, so that Jarrin John, Rich Lark, Stonebur and Here's Why almost piled up.

The field straightened itself out going to the third, with Here's Why and Stonebur setting sail after the leader, and Local Run, Ginny Bug and Rich Lark in a little huddle of their own, with Omaha Traveler, Jarrin John and Jamaica Boy bringing up the rear in that order. The last-named, a transfer from timber racing, palpably did not like the going at all, and proved the soundness of the theory that it is impossible to try to make a hurdle horse out of a top-class timber horse overnight.

Halfway of the course, Port Call had increased his lead. Here's Why was still running at him and Ginny Bug and Jarrin John were coming up fast to challenge. Local Run was still in the middle of the field, and Stonebur was commencing to run out of power. Rich Lark, another good timber horse, was showing nothing in a big way, and Omaha Traveler was beating Jamaica Boy. He saved everybody a lot of litigation a few hurdles later, by running out.

By the last hurdle, Port Call had an enormous lead, and Here's Why, Ginny Bug and Jarrin John were taking turns looking each other in the eye for second place. Here's Why, apparently not recovered from his effort at Royalton six days earlier, began dropping back badly, to finally finish out of the money behind Local Run.

Ginny Bug, running her usual courageous race, but apparently also still feeling the effect of her superb Indianapolis effort, was finally displaced by Jarrin John, which had been saved sedulously for the Hurdle Stakes, having passed up the meeting at Indianapolis as well as the Oxmoor meeting, in his own home town. Regardless of this, and of his vaunted reputation as a mud runner, he was unable to get up to the winner, which was eased up to finish.

With the heavy going, the time was over nine seconds worse than Ginny Bug's 1954 record. However, one thing

MARE NO. 1

This mare, by an American-bred stallion from the Frizette line, has produced four foals, three have started, three have won a total of 37 races. The non-starter died at 2. She is out of a producing *Sickle mare, a full sister to Black Lashes, dam of Romanette, Wisconsin Boy, Alibhai Lashes, etc., a half-sister to dam of Black George. The next dam was the famous *Nature's Smile — a key Widener mare. The combination of this pedigree and Ponder provides a tremendous potential.

MARE NO. 2

This mare, in foal to Ponder, represents pure gold from the American Stud Book. Her sire was one of the best of Sweep's sons, and her dam by Whisk Broom II, is from a great line of Oaks mares. The mare, herself, has produced five foals — all five have won including a very good 3-year-old in New York this year. The next dam produced one of the best handicappers of his time, was granddam of other stakes winners, and was out of a C. C. A. Oaks winner which was sister to an Alabama winner, the dam of a Kentucky Derby winner. Add the Derby pedigree of Ponder to this one—and you have a brilliant potential.

Monmouth's Distaff Hurdle Race

One of the difficulties of breeding steeplechasers is that most of them are geldings and it is, therefore, impossible to select breeding stock on a performance basis. Monmouth Park is, therefore, to be congratulated on carding "The Lock and Key", a hurdle race for fillies and mares on July 31st.

Bull Lea Sire Record

Bull Lea, the famed Calumet stallion who once was advertising at a $250. stud-fee, has sired the winners of more than $11,000,000, including 22 horses that won over $100,000 each; 48 stakes winners; two Kentucky Derby winners; the Triple Crown winner, Citation; and one or more champions in each division, including 5 horses of the year. It was during the year that his first crop of 2-year-olds went to the races that he was available to breeders at a fee of $250. He later commanded a fee of $5,000 and was finally taken off the market.

Hancock Buys *Royal Charger Filly

The second highest price at last year's Newmarket October yearling sales was made when industrialist John Dunlop gave $30,000 for the chestnut filly by *Royal Charger out of Ella Retford, who was a half-sister to the good Pantomine Queen, winner of the Irish One Thousand Guineas and Oaks in 1953.

Now the filly has again changed hands, having been bought by A. B. Hancock. Named Spring Violets, she will remain in training with Charles Rogers in Ireland. —P. T. C.

Sunday Workout

It is now common knowledge that Needles will work in the morning only when he pleases and frequently spends some time on the track before he decides to get down to business. He needed one long work before the Belmont which Hugh Fontaine selected to give him the previous Sunday. The talk around the backstretch was that Fontaine selected Sunday because he didn't have to worry about getting him off the track in time for the first race.

"Sleepy Head"

Interviewed at Monmouth Park, Trainer DeVerne Emery had a few words to say about his two-year-old charge Pro-Brandy the property of the Carolyn K Stable who has won four races in as many starts including the Nursery Stakes at Pimlico. It appears that Pro-Brandy spends all of his time eating and sleeping (particularly the latter) except when actually on the track. In recounting the colts progress in the Nursery Stakes, Emery observed that he first took an afternoon nap at the gate and got away slowly. Although the distance was only five furlongs he still managed to get home in front. According to Emery, "He probably started running on the theory that the quicker he got home the sooner he could resume his nap back in the barn."

Maryland Racing Tax

Jeremiah Courtney, Washington attorney, has concluded a study of the Maryland racing tax which is published in a recent issue of the Blood Horse. It is Mr. Courtney's opinion that the increase from 10 percent to 12 percent is not in fact slight for it is paid over and over again by the same people and can reduce the profit on a bet by as much as 50 per cent. He shows that the increased tax decreased attendance and betting, the mutual handle in 1956 as compared with 1955 being minus 4 percent at Bowie, minus 6 percent at Laurel and minus 13 percent at Pimlico.

Mr. Courtney concludes: "I will only suggest the obvious: the racing industry badly needs a national public-relations program controlled by no single segment of the industry and primarily responsible to the race-going public which picks up all the tax bills. A full-time representative working at nothing else on a national basis is required. One of the cardinal points of that public relations program should be to bring home to all politicians and the local press that a vote for a racing tax is not a vote against sin—it is a vote for sin, the sin of facilitating, spreading, and making enormously profitable the illegal and vicious business of (off-course) book-making."

Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society

E. P. Taylor has been elected president of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society for the sixth consecutive year. Taylor, George C. Hendrie, Howard Johnson, W. J. Risewick, Malcolm Richardson, Benjamin R. Steen, Jack Stafford, Vince Sheridan, Russell Graul, L. H. Appelby, Dan J. Kennedy and L. E. Williams were elected to the board of directors.

Tails Off

Pierre Lorillard, who built the great Rancocas breeding farm and who was one of the founders of the first Monmouth Park also captured another first when his Iroquois became the first American Thoroughbred to win the English Epsom Derby in 1881. Also notable among his achievements was his invention of the tuxedo. The founder of exclusive Tuxedo Park in New York became weary of fussing with the tails of his formal attire at dinner, so calmly told his tailor to cut them off, thus setting a new style for gentlemen of distinction.

French Take Home Ascot Gold Cup

France successfully invaded England and ran off with the first three places in the Ascot Gold Cup on June 21. Marcel Boussac's colt, Macip, won by a length and a half over Bewitched and Clichy. Ten years ago France also provided the first three in the Gold Cup and Boussac was the owner of the winning horse.

California Pedigrees

The Pedigree committee for the California Breeders-Fasig-Tipton Del Mar sales is keeping its identity a closely guarded secret, for in this lusty, thriving territory you can say what you will about a man, but disparage his horse—and out comes the guns! In the old days, every horse was accepted but now Californians are having to accustom themselves to hearing that their yearlings may measure up physically, but that their equine ancestors are somewhat de trop. All of which is to the good in the light of improving the breed.

The Breeder's Sales Company in Kentucky used to try to keep its pedigree committee unknown, also, but they found that scheduling meetings under the breeders' watchful eyes was nigh unto impossible—even with the use of freight elevators and fire escapes. Now if a decision is contested, there is a hearing attended by a group of celebrated breeders and the problem threshed over.

Queen's Royal Hunt Cup

Queen Elizabeth's colt, Alexander, won a photo-finish decision for the Royal Hunt Cup at the Royal Ascot meeting on June 20. He snatched victory by half a length from Lady Ursula Vernon's Jaspe, who was closely followed by Robert Sterling Clark's American-bred Blue Robe, the only filly in the race.

Louisiana Mutuel Tax

The Louisiana House of Representatives handed Gov. Earl Long a stinging defeat when it twice failed to pass an increase in the tax on horse race betting, on June 20. Long sought to raise the pari-mutuel tax from 13 to 15½ percent.

Sea Change Wins

Mrs. Whitney Stone's recently acquired Sea Change (bought at the Vanderbilt auction for $42,500) was sent out for the five-furlong dash down the Widener chute recently. Even Shipman of The Morning Telegraph described her as an elegant but rather fragile filly, but with a charming, enticing personality. And when she ran, he said that if Sea Change has a light and ultra-feminine frame, it conceals a fighting heart, for when she was headed by Ogden Phipps' Ambulance, she refused to admit defeat and came burning back to win the race.

Belmont Visitors

Belmont Park has recently been host to Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ziegler, Jr. who had just returned from a trip to Europe; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Clark; Spencer J. Drayton; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sackett of Richmond, Va.; Guilford Dudley of Nashville, who has horses with Jack Skirvin; and Dixie Boykin of Camden, S. C.

Delaware News

From Delaware Park comes news that Richard duPont and Bayard Sharp again gave their annual lobster party. The trophy for the Delaware Oaks was donated by Mrs. Marion duPont Scott and was made by Silversmith Paul Storr in 1829.

Entertainment Stakes

At Saratoga, Miss E. R. Sears is planning to give Max Hirsch of Texas and New York some stiff competition when it comes to the Entertainment Stakes. Long noted for his superiority in that department, Hirsch is finding himself seriously challenged by Miss Sears' remodelled kitchen complete with all the newest gadgets, dining room, patio, cocktail bar and a top notch chef who can produce everything from fancy dishes to ham 'n eggs.

Grand Prix De Paris

France's chief steeplechase event, Grand Prix Steeplechase de Paris, was won by M. J. Etchepare's Necor, ridden by H. T. Kint. The value of the race was $22,400.

News from the STUDS

—KENTUCKY— T. C. Club Choice

A chestnut yearling colt by Tom Fool out of Paddlebuck by *Blenheim II won the approbation and admiration of some 77 Thoroughbred Club members picnicking at Greentree Farm recently. Nine colts and nine fillies were parade before the assembled guests, and the best four of each division chosen, with the Tom Fool colt winning his division and a bay filly by Bipelech—Tangleweed, by Devil Diver winning her division but taking second honors to the son of the 1953 Horse of the Year.

Sons Are Making Good

Count Fleet, Mrs. John D. Hertz's great stallion standing at her Stoner Creek Stud, Paris, Ky., now has more than 20 sons standing at stud. Count Fleet himself won racing's coveted Triple Crown—Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes—in 1943.

Knight Top Breeder

Leading all breeders in the number of races won in 1955 by horses he bred was Henry H. Knight of Almahurst Farm, near Lexington, Ky., with 222 victories. Runners he bred also scored 227 seconds and 204 thirds during the year, and earned $878,697.

Has Hyperion Filly

While the great English sire Hyperion has numerous successful sons and daughters at stud in the United States, young progeny by him are relatively rare in this country. Crown Crest Farm, Lexington, Ky., however, will sell at this year's auctions a yearling filly by Hyperion and out of the Chamossaire mare, Lady Blane.

Has Top Yearlings

Two of the top-bred fillies to be offered in 1956 yearling auctions will be Elmendorf Farm's youngster by Menow—Danger Ahead, by Head Play, and another by Alsab—Discreet, by Eight Thirty. Both dams were stakes winners, and Alsab and Menow are famous race horses and sires.

New Stallion Top-Bred

A new addition this year to the stallion band at Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Maine Chance Farm, Lexington, Ky., is the imported horse Lord Vanity. He is a son of the great English sire Hyperion, also sire of Alibhai, Heliopolis, Khaled, etc., and out of Silence II, by Bosworth.

Derby Blood Accented

Kentucky Derby blood is accented in the pedigrees of four of the eight stallions at stud at Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Maine Chance Farm, Lexington, Ky. Jet's Date is by Jet Pilot, 1947 winner, and is out of a mare by War Admiral, 1937 winner. Jet Jewel is also by Jet Pilot, War Jeep is by War Admiral, and Mr. Busher is by War Admiral and out of a mare by Bubbling Over, 1926 Kentucky Derby winner.

'Count' Carries On

Count Fleet, Triple Crown champion of 1943 now standing at Stoner Creek Stud, Paris, Ky., in his eight crops racing through 1955 had sired the winners of $4,812,014, including 21 stakes winners and two "Horses of the Year," Counterpoint and One Count.

Earnings Tremendous

A total of more than $12,385,000 has been earned by sons and daughters of seven stallions standing at Henry H. Knight's Almahurst Farm, Lexington, Ky. Leading sire is Heliopolis, son of England's great Hyperion, with winnings of over $8,000,000 by his progeny.

Had Derby Starters

Of its six sires with progeny old enough to be eligible, two at A. B. Hancock's Claiborne Farm, Paris, Ky., had starters in the 1956 Kentucky Derby. They were Jean Baptiste, by Ambiorix, and Besomer, by Double Jay. Another starter, Black Emperor, was sired by Black Tarquin, which formerly stood at Claiborne.

Had Derby Starter

Crown Crest Farm a breeding establishment set up only five years ago, had its first Kentucky Derby starter bred there when High King, by Heliopolis—Twinkley, by Bull Lea, went in the 1956 event. The farm sold him as a yearling to Joe Gavegnano. He got off to a bad Derby start and was dead last for a mile, but passed seven horses in the stretch.

Prince John Ailing

Prince John, Elmendorf Farm's fine 2-year-old of 1955 which beat Needles, Kentucky Derby winner, last fall in the Garden State Stakes, has not been under saddle since breaking a foot bone last December. The stable is still trying to bring him back to racing and, successful or not, eventually will stand him at stud at Elmendorf Farm near Lexington, Ky.

Revoked Sales Yearlings

There are sixteen yearlings in the Keeneland Summer Sales by Revoked. This is the largest number by one stallion ever accepted in the "sale of selected yearlings".

—VIRGINIA— Mellon Mares

Ten mares who had been shipped to Jonabell Farm in Kentucky for breeding purposes have returned to Paul Mellon's Rokeby Farm in Upperville, Va. The group included the imported matron Golden Girl, Tap Day and Wild Applause.

Sailor's Dam

The winner in the Thoroughbred foal class at the Upperville Colt and Horse Show was a chestnut filly by Sea Charger out of Flota. Flota is a Brookmeade broodmare and is well known as the dam of Sailor.

North Cliff Produce

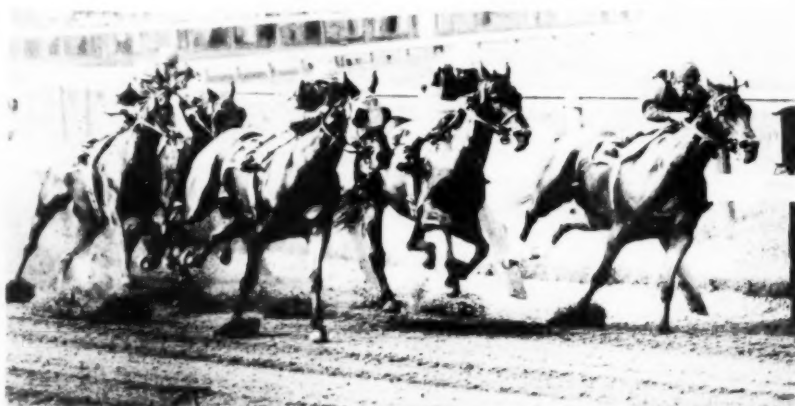

Mrs. Royal Firman Jr.'s Mumtaz, a sparkling two-year-old, won impressively at Delaware Park on June 7. Mumtaz, a grey daughter of *Mahmoud—Motto was bought as a yearling from the North Cliff Farm, Rixeyville, Va., consignment to the New York sales for $33,000.

The Churches have just acquired Dipsy Doodle, grand dam of Jazz Age, winner of the recent Peter Pan Handicap at Belmont Park.

Two For Two

When Gang Miss scampered home in a six furlong race for 2-year-old fillies on June 15th, at Belmont Park, it was the second victory in two starts for the bay daughter of Black Gang—Sweep Miss, by Sweep Like. She carried the colors of her owner-breeder, Mrs. A. C. Randolph, noted horsewoman and Joint-M. F. H. of the Piedmont Fox hounds of Upperville, Va.

Third Brother

Third Brother—who is just that—succeeding Hill Prince and Prince Hill in the produce of *Princequillo and Hildene by Bubbling Over, showed good family resemblance when he recently won a brilliant race at Monmouth Park for Christopher T. Chenery. Coming from many lengths off the pace and romping home a seven-length winner, he just missed equalling the track record: he looked good in his first victory in twelve starts this season.

Hill Prince For Stayers

Levee, the filly who won the Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont in such fine style, owes much of the victory to her sire's influence. From C. T. Chenery's Virginia-bred Hill Prince comes the staying ability that Levee's dam, Bourtal has been unable to give her previous fillies by Some Chance and *Nasrullah, Banta and Delta, respectively. Six furlongs was their limit, but Levee took the mile and three-eighths of the Oaks in stride, so to speak.

—NEW JERSEY—

Blue Sparkler's Record

Blue Sparkler, Amory Haskell's four year-old filly won the Regret Handicap in amazing style. Not only was her time merely 1-5 of a second slower than the track record, but her time for the first half mile clipped 1 3-5 seconds from the world's record for that distance.

—CANADA—

Bunt Lawless Dies

Bunt Lawless, Canada's leading sire from 1948 through 1951 died on June 7 at W. F. Morrissey's farm near Toronto. The 21-year-old horse by Ladder—Mintwina by *Traumer or Mint Briar was bred and raced by Morrissey. He had an outstanding race record, winning the Clarendon Plate, King's Plate, Long Branch Championship, Canadian Championship Stakes (twice), Hare Memorial Handicap and others. His best son was Windfields, best 3-year-old of 1946 in Canada and sire of Canadian Champ, best Canadian 3-year-old of 1956. He also got 18 other stakes winners.

—FLORIDA—

Needles and The King

Those who have been poking fun at Florida as a Thoroughbred breeding state, calmed down by Needles' consistent and excellent performances should find themselves further subdued by the additional testimony of King Hairan's victory in the Christiana Stakes. It was his fourth stakes victory of the season as he jauntily whipped off the five furlongs in .58 3-5, three-fifths off the track record.

Gay Patty

Gay Patty, by Pasteurized, a half-sister to the Maryland Hunt Cup winner Marchized, is currently being boarded by her owner Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peroni of Allan Park, Michigan at the Ocala Stud Farms, Ocala, Florida. She has at her side a bay filly by Bull Frier and was bred back this season to Fly Away. John Hampshire of Baltimore, Maryland has recently purchased as a broodmare prospect, the three-year-old Hush Mush by *Bernborough out of the stakes winner On, by *Heliopolis.

—MEXICO—

Mexican Breeders

Don Mario Pasquel and his brother, Alfonso, are embarking upon a pretentious Thoroughbred breeding in their native Mexico. Both the Pasquels are enthusiastic patrons of racing and this year the brothers sent out the winner of the Derby Mexicano and the Jockey Club stakes. They have three well known United States stallions on hand, Be Fearless, Nelson Dunstan and Peppy Lad. Both hope to attend the Keeneland summer vendues, but in any case they will be well represented. B. B.

Valse D'Or Dies

The broodmare Valse D'Or who was purchased at the Woolwine dispersal by Stavros Niarchos for $76,000 died recently at Barry Ryan's Normandy Farm. At the time of purchase she was in foal to *Nasrullah. Death was attributed to complications following strenuous delivery of a particularly large foal which also died.

Sales Total $7,589,150

Fasig-Tipton Co., of New York, America's oldest and biggest Thoroughbred sales organization, in 1955 conducted 16 public sales in seven states and Canada, selling 1,610 horses for a total of $7,589,150.

Counterpoint Blood

Counterpoint, named Horse of the Year a few seasons ago, seems to be making a good start at stud if the performance of his two daughters Snow White and Defilade in the National Stallion Stakes is any criterion. The two girls frolicked home in one-two order, Snow White being the first under the wire. Possessed of rare speed over any distance, Counterpoint had toughness and stamina belied by his frail, skimpy appearance, and it looks as if his sons and daughters will follow in his foot-steps.

Dedham

Horsemanship classes at the Dedham country and polo club show of which there were seven divisions, were well filled, often twenty or thirty to a class. The junior championship was keenly contested for by Meredith Paul of Sherborn (the winner) and Meg Vincent of Hamilton. Each won a blue in her division of horsemanship over fences, and Meredith again won her division of horsemanship. Meredith was also fortunate in riding in the winning Norfolk Junior Hunt Team with Louisa Williams and Anne Gaither. This same combination won the C division of the competition for Pony Club members.

The Junior P. H. A. working hunters was won by Diana Gardiner of Hamilton on her newly acquired grey mare, Rosetts. In the senior classes the blues were well divided between Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fruehauf, Jr.'s Master Key; Mr. and Mrs. John Grew's Showboat, which Mrs. Grew rode to consistent performances.

It is encouraging to see so many children coming along in the horsemanship classes, and a large measure of their increasing enthusiasm has been generated by the Pony Club activities in the area. Improvement in riding and horsemanship is particularly noticeable in these children who have been active participants in the Norfolk Hunt and North Shore Pony Club rallies.

Iron Bridge Hunt

A Large array of spectators crowded the hillside for the twelfth running of The Aitcheson-Gales Memorial timber race run in conjunction with the show and were rewarded with a thrilling race. Miss Jane Aitcheson on A. H. Smith's Grand Chal literally ran away with it as she finished the four and a half mile course all alone. Bobby Lee rode George Willson's Silver Moon home for second money, with Gary Gardner's Pogo, the only other entry took a spill on the tenth fence. Neither he nor his rider Tommy Lusby were injured.

Not satisfied with one win, Miss Aitcheson, a Baltimore model, boarded her father's Mr. Black to outrun a field of nine in the one and one half mile Paul Curran, Jr. Memorial Flat race.

Little League Benefit

The sun and warm weather made their appearance in the Chagrin Valley just in time to brighten things up for first show of the year. The many exhibitors and spectators helped to make this show held for the benefit of the Little League baseball teams a big success. Only two were able to collect more than a single blue. Molly O'Neill, who has just taken over the reins of her sister's nice going Wisecrack, took four of the blues home with her.

Potomac Hunt

With two legs on the Rocksie Memorial trophy, George DiPaula's Lariat, Linky Smith up, staved off the bids of five top fencers to win first prize, after a six way tie in the knock-down-and-out. The champion chestnut leaped off with Donald Snelling's Tip at a height of 5'9" to clinch the blue.

Of great interest to her many fans and followers in Maryland was the retirement of Sky's Shadow. Accepting the applause and blanket of roses, Sky's Shadow with her owner, Claude W. Owens up, backed out of the show ring forever to await the arrival of her first foal, the product of a mating with the top conformation hunter sire, Walt A Bit.

Sedgefield High Point Lions

Once again this three day horse show fulfilled its reputation as one of the top hunter shows in the country. Competition was keenest in the Green Division with many youngsters which are North Carolina bred and owned. This reflected the increased interest in this section in breeding activities. Lakelawn Farms' Sir Trouble swept the classes for the championship. The Reserve Championship was contested down to the last ribbon, but was carried home by Mrs. Ozelle Moss' Another Battle.

Bold Ann, Dudley Williams' consistent grey mare, finally broke her jinx and topped the Working Division on her own home territory. Ed Daniels rode Lakelawn Farms' Little Trip for Reserve.

The Conformation Division, where quantity always gives way to quality, was topped by Arthur Reynolds' brown gelding Itch.

Sedgefield Hunters, of most interest to the local sponsors, was dominated by the younger generation, for which this hunt has always been known. Perry Ragsdale on her recently acquired Red Rebel, turned a perfect round to capture the coveted trophy. Home Rule, owned by Master Nathan Ayers and ridden this year by junior Betsy Rausch, took home the red ribbon.

Equestrian Olympic Games—Stockholm

Three Day Event — June 11-14

Lieut.-Col. C. E. G. Hope
(Editor "Light Horse")

This event, carried out for the most part under exceedingly adverse conditions, proved to be the severest international test that any horses and riders have had to undergo since Basle in 1954. Opinions were divided as to which was the stiffer cross-country course—on which of course the whole event turns. As a matter of statistics it may be noted that at Basle 17 out of 28 starters actually finished the course, of whom 2 fell out the next day—46 per cent casualties. At Stockholm 40 of the 55 starters finished the course, and 38 came out for the jumping phase—31 per cent casualties. At Basle the day was fine, the going dry but heavy—one obstacle, the river crossing, however, became impassable and had to be modified; at Stockholm in the 24 hours previously the rainfall exceeded the average for a month and it poured incessantly most of the morning while more than half the riders completed the course. The distances were about the same.

Before describing the event it is necessary to consider the three tests which the contestants had to face.

1. Dressage. This was the same test with slight modifications as that used at Windsor in 1955. The main change was to enlarge the trot half-circles from 4 metres to 5 metres and the canter circles from 6 to 10 metres. As these had to be carried out at the ordinary gait and not collected their correct execution was impossible. In fact every horse achieved some degree of collection and how they were marked as they were by the judges is a secret known only to themselves. As a test it bore little relation and was no sort of preparation for the endurance phase.

2. Endurance. Section A (road and tracks) 4.47 miles; B. (steeplechase) 2.24 m., 12 jumps; C (roads and tracks) 8.95 m.; D. (cross country) 4.75 m., 33 jumps; E (roads and track) 1.24. The "roads and tracks" were more over roads than tracks, with very hard and stony surface. The steeplechase was a straightforward affair, over gravel not grass; only one horse—the Australian Dandy—had a fall here. The details of the cross-country course are as follows:

1. Post and rails behind a ditch, 3ft 3ins by 4ft 11ins. 2. Stone wall, 3ft 9ins by 5ft 11ins. 3. 4. Two posts and rails, 3ft 11ins set at right angles. 5. Turf bank, 3ft 11ins by 6ft 7ins. 6. A drop fence made of oil drums, 3ft 11ins high on the takeoff side, and a spread of 5ft 11ins. 7. Post and rails over ditch, 3ft 9ins by 8ft 3ins. 8. Solid poles 2ft 3ins into water, to be traversed for about 20 yds, then a step out followed a second step with a stone face of 3ft 9ins. 10. Solid logs, 3ft 7ins by 4ft 11ins, followed immediately by a steep slide of 10ft approx. 11. Over hay bales through an open barn, 3ft 11ins by 5ft 11ins. 12. Quarried step up with a log on top at the end of a steep rise, 3ft 9ins. 13. Parallel bars with bushes in between, 3ft 11ins by 6ft 11ins. V-shaped log piles, 3ft 9ins high with a maximum spread of 8ft 3ins. 15. Cable drums, 3ft 11ins by 7ft 7ins. 16, 17. Post and rails over ditches on either side of a road, 3ft 11ins by 4ft 7ins and 3ft 7ins by 6ft 7ins respectively. 18. Pedestrian crossing (posts and rails), 3ft 11ins by 3ft 3ins. 19. Water, 13ft 1in. 20, 21. Pair of posts and rails under an open barn, 3ft 11ins each. 22. Trakener, post and rails 3ft 3ins high in a deep ditch 8ft 3ins wide (after rain this had a very slippery take off unless jumped well back and at speed). 23. Tree trunks, 3ft 11ins. 24. Post and rails at head of a steep slope, 3ft 5ins. 25. Ditch and rails at foot of the slope, 3ft 11ins. 26. Parallel bars, 3ft 11ins by 5ft 11ins. 27. Rail with garden seats in front, 3ft 11ins by 8ft 3ins. 28. Post and rails, 3ft 11ins. 29. Post and rails over ditch, 3ft 11ins by 6ft 11ins. 30. Gate, 3ft 11ins. 31. Log pile, 3ft 7ins by 7ft 7ins. 32. Fallen tree trunk, 3ft 11ins. 33. Solid poles, 3ft 9ins high, with a ditch on downward slope behind, total spread 8ft 3ins.

All the obstacles were well built and looked terrifyingly solid. They had one great merit of always being part of a natural line of obstacles not "islands" in an open field; on the other hand they rather lacked variety. Their difficulty was due mainly to short and awkward approaches, and—on the day—to the slippery going. No. 22, which would not have been difficult in dry weather, had the worst record—12 falls and 28 refusals; No. 19—the water—caused 9 falls but no refusals; the last fence also had no refusals but 7 falls. Eleven of the 55 riders completed the course without incident, which may be compared with only one horse (Crispin) at Basle.

The jump course for the third phase followed the trend of making this more and more like a low-grade show-jumping course plus a few difficult problems. Of its kind it was most attractive and well laid out, testing, ironically—as did the cross-country course too—that very quality of collection which was not asked for in the dressage test. It consisted of 12 obstacles: 1. Flower pots with poles, 3ft 7ins. 2. Fallen tree, 3ft 11ins by 5ft 3ins. 3. Road warning, 3ft 9ins. 4. Cable ditch with trestles, 3ft 9ins and 3ft 9ins by 4ft 9ins. 5. Wall, 3ft 9ins. 6. Parallel bars, 3ft 9ins and 3ft 11ins by 4ft 11ins. 7 a and b, double gates, 3ft 9ins and 3ft 11ins. 8. Brush and post and rails, 3ft 7ins 3ft 11ins by 4ft 3ins. 9. Water, 11ft 6ins. 10. Garden seat and pole, 2ft 8ins-3ft 9ins, into a enclosure, requiring a quick halt and turn back to 11. Exit gate, 3ft 9ins. 12. Wine barrels and double poles, 2ft 8ins-3ft 11ins by 4ft 7ins.

With this picture in mind, let us take the adventures of the individual winner, and then of the teams.

P. Kastenman—Illuster (Sweden). L. A moderate test firmly ridden, the rider being well in control. Extension and canter circles were good, but the horse failed to do a diagonal rein back. Good natural head carriage. Penalties 116.4. 2. Happy the horse that has no history in an endurance test! They gained 30.67 bonus marks on the steeplechase and 39.20 across country, ending with total penalties of 46.53, 20 ahead of their nearest rivals, Kilbarry and Trux von Kamax. They seemed to take this fierce course, even the dreaded trakener (22) in their stride and finished in good heart. 3. They marred a good round by getting too close to the wall

Brandywine Polo

Bob Gallagher

Two well matched local polo clubs fought a tight 6-5 battle Sunday, June 10, with the All Stars taking the nod over Brandywine.

The All Stars stepped into a 3-0 first chukker lead, with Taylor, Weymouth, and Mayer doing the damage. Lyle Phillips riding at back for the All Stars thwarted Brandywine's goal attempts on more than one occasion.

There was no scoring in the second period for either team, but the fans were treated to some excellent stick work, and ride-offs by both clubs.

Brandywine finally broke into the scoring bracket early in the third period when Ray Harrington broke from the pack, stayed on the ball, and made the score with a well placed neck shot. Before the chukker ended Jimmy McHugh took a pass from Harrington and chalked up another tally up for Brandywine. However, the All Stars were not idle during this chukker. Norm Taylor and Lyle Phillips managed to sandwich one goal each between the Brandywine surge giving the Stars a fairly comfortable 5-2 half time lead.

The fourth period went by scoreless as each team seemed to double its defensive strength.

In the fifth stanza Brandywine closed the gap slightly with Harrington finding the mark on a pass from Ackerman. The All Stars failed to dent the Brandywine goal.

After two minutes of play in the final period, Harrington closed the gap another peg to make the scoreboard read 5-4. Shortly after, Phillips drove a well placed ball through the uprights to relieve the pressure from his club. Just as the bell sounded, ending the game, Harrington hit a neck shot for a solid goal, but too late to have any bearing on the final score.

Wednesday night, June 13, polo action in the Brandywine arena saw Philadelphia trounce Maule Farms 12-4 and Brandywine edge Blind Brook 11-9. Through a four goal scoring effort of Ray Harrington, coupled with his team mates Mike Sassone and Bobby Ackerman each adding one goal, the Brandywiners stepped into a 6-3 half time lead. Ed Feick, Art Von Gontard, and Johnny Rice accounted for one goal each for the visitors.

It was an inspired Blind Brook team which went cavorting around the arena in the third chukker. Rice seemed to be every where at once, stopping all but one Brandywine attack. Harrington broke through with some clever riding to mar the visitors chukker shut-out. Beside their spectacular defensive plan the Blind Brook trio also went on an offensive spree. When the chukker ended they had added four more goals to their side of the scoreboard forcing a third chukker 7-7 deadlock.

Bobby Ackerman broke the tie in the fourth period by macing one on a pass from Harrington. Rice took the ball on a rebound after a penalty shot to force another tie. Then Ackerman brought the ball from his own goal all the way down for a tally to put Brandywine out in front. Rice bounced right back again to make the scoreboard read 9-9. With two minutes remaining Harrington broke the tie for the last time, and for good measure added another seconds before the game ended. This gave him a total of seven goals for the night.

In the Philadelphia victory over Maule Farms, E. W. King, Norm Taylor, and Lyle Phillips, riding at one, two, and back for the Quakers divided scoring honors with four goals each. "Frolic Weymouth was the high man for Maule Farms with three goals. His riding mate at Number two, Mo Allred, contributed one goal. Although man for man each team was evenly matched, Philadelphia's team work and timing worked almost to perfection, while on the other hand the Maule riders, playing well individually, could not seem to click as a unit.

Brandywine nosed out the All Stars 8-7 Sunday, June 17 in one of the best outdoor games of the season.

The All Stars took a 2-1 first chukker lead, but Brandywine's Ray Harrington tied up the game in the second chukker with a hard off side forehead shot.

In the third period, King, Harrison, Harrington, and Allred riding for Brandywine produced spectacular team work which ended with King and Harrison taking credit for one goal each. The All Stars failed to do any damage in this stanza. This gave Brandywine a 4-2 half time lead.

Bobby Ackerman of the All Stars accounted for the only goal in the fourth chukker.

The fifth chukker was the big one of the day scoring-wise with each team chalking up two goals. King and Harrington handled the Brandywine scoring, while James and Mayer countered for the All Stars.

Early in the final chukker "Mo" Allred scored an important goal as it put the Brandywiners in front 7-5. Then reliable Lyle Phillips countered with a goal for the Stars. With one minute remaining Billy Mayer drove in the tying goal for the Stars forcing the "sudden death" overtime action.

After three minutes and ten seconds of extra play a penalty was imposed against the All Stars. Harrington elected to make the free attempt from the 60 yard mark. With a hard straight drive he sent the ball sailing goalward; it did not touch ground again until it had sailed between the posts for the winning goal.

Harrisburg Club Defeats Bishop Hollow Polo Team

Harrisburg Polo Club found the scoring bulls-eye in the third and fourth chukkers yesterday and went on to hand Bishop Hollow a 10-5 setback on the VFW polo oval near Newtown Square.

Gil Miller was the big scoring ace with five, followed by borrowed player Bill Carroll's four counters. The most brilliant play of the game was executed by Harrisburg's Ben Forney, who dribbled the ball the length of the field. He finished with a loft shot for the final 10 yards.

HORSEMANSHIP. By Maj.-Gen. Geoffrey Brooke, D.S.O., M.C. 281 pages. The Countryman Press, Woodstock, Vt. $5.00.

This first volume of the famous Lonsdale Library, originally published over a quarter of a century ago, is extremely interesting, and not only to those who knew the Britain of horses and horsemanship of the 1920's.

Republished now without change, it reminds us how greatly the horseman's world everywhere has altered since the book's distinguished author was a colonel in his vigorous mid-forties, Britain's King was George V, and the Model-T Ford was only two years out of date. "The groom's hours (we read) are long and he cannot expect to get regular afternoons off. Really good men are so wrapped up in their charges that they have no other interests and consequently do not find their work irksome." Those dear, dead, gone days!

Gone too are the days when the British held India, and her officers hunt-

Loudoun Pony and Junior Show

The lovely show ring on Middleburg's Glenwood Race Course saw a great many veteran ponies at this year's Loudoun Pony and Junior Show. A lot of parents and spectators were overheard whispering about the gray hairs which they felt sprouting as they watched such old timers as Smokey Joe, undoubtedly one of the top ponies in America, whose owner Billy Boyce III finally outgrew him, and who is now ridden by Patsy Worrall. Smokey took home two championships from Loudoun this year. One was in the small pony division, where he won over Nutcracker, who is now shown by Jimmie Zimmerman as he too has been outgrown by his former rider, Jimmie's older brother, Richard. Smokey's other victory came in the pony jumper division, where he glided his way to thirteen points to win over Phillip T. Gore's Pretty Penny, who accumulated eleven.

Another veteran winner, Craven's Raven, who for many years was shown successfully by Sydney Gadd, also took home a tri-color. His new owner, Betty Shaw, rode him to the reserve large pony championship behind a lovely bay pony, Uppity, who is owned by Mathilde Hebb.

In the junior division the champion was Mrs. Fritz Howard's beautifully mannered Man Out, who won the junior hunter class, over forty other top junior horses, and also the road hack class.

COVERT BOY, Pony Hunter Champion at the Radnor Pony Show, owned and ridden by George Wanner, Jr.

Nashville Junior

Hunters, jumpers, hacks and horsemanship contestants proved to be the tail that wagged the dog in the annual (since 1928) Spring Horse Show sponsored by the Nashville Junior Riding Club.

About five years ago this predominantly professional gaited and walking horse show conceded a daytime program to the lowly pleasure horses and ponies and their riders. Each year the numbers and quality of these, and of the related hunters and jumpers, has increased.

Such numbers as 22 working hunters, 24 hunter type pleasure horses, 30 balanced seat equitation competitors, 23 pleasure ponies, 12 pairs, 17 in senior hunter equitation, 15 in the junior section, were unequalled in the gaited, harness, and walking horse departments. Here 11 three-year-old walking horses were much the largest entry.

The Pony Club movement combined with parallel promotion of more and better pleasure riding has made international type horse training and riding the fastest growing equestrian sport around Nashville.

Top riders at the Junior show were Janet Jordan and Carol Lord, both 18.

Top open jumper was Cyrene, 10-year-old chestnut stallion of American Saddle and Tennessee Walking parentage. He was named for the battleship on which his breeder, owner, and rider, police officer James Rooker, served during the war.

Madison

Carol Lord, 18, and Naco were the only two-time winners on the hack and horsemanship program that served as curtain raiser to a typical one night gaited and walking horse show in Tennessee. The rider and mount combination topped horsemanship and the open hack class.

The afternoon program was one of a series of hack and horsemanship competitions sponsored by the "Horse Sense" column of The Nashville Tennessean at Nashville area shows. Fifty cent entry fees are collected for the benefit of the U. S. Equestrian Team, Inc. The take at Madison was $32.

Open jumping was the first event on the night program as it is in many one-night horse shows in Tennessee. The contestants haul the obstacles to the shows and set them up.

(5) and the "Stromsholm gate" (11), and thereby gave Weldon and Kilbarry (GB) an opening which they failed to take. So they won the individual gold medal with a total of -66.53.

Great Britain. 1. A. L. Rook—Wild Venture. A surprisingly good test, which was light and smooth throughout and accurately ridden. Transitions upwards, especially to the canter, were delightful, and the whole impression was pleasing. The tempo generally was slow and little extension was shown. Penalties 101.6. 2. Taken under orders at a slower pace than comes natural to him, Wild Venture took the parallel bars (12) rather uncomfortably when I saw him, but apart from a refusal at No. 7, due to being shown it at too much of an angle, he had no other trouble and finished well. They gained 16.61 points on the steeplechase but lost 9 as well as 20 for a refusal across country—total -105.89, and they stood 5th. 3. A very—perhaps over—careful round, which looked awkward. They had the parallel bars (6) down and lost 3.75 time faults, ending with -119.64. 6th.

2. A. E. Hill—Countryman. 1. After showing a bunched up halt, they produced a really good extended walk—very rarely seen in this competition, and generally the extended work was good. Penalties 108.4. 2. They gained maximum bonus over the steeplechase, then, riding cautiously, again under orders, they took off too low down at the trakenor; the horse failed to get the necessary propulsion and was caught see-sawing on the bar unable to go forward or back, until he was pushed back into the ditch and out on to the take-off side again—this counting as a refusal and a fall. Then Hill took him firmly in hand and rode him hard, taking off well back to clear it like a bird. After that they went steadily without incident, gaining 12.9 bonus marks to offset the 80 penalties. Total -140.11, standing 13th. 3. A cautious round, hitting the parallel bars and losing .25 time fault. Total -150.36. 12th.

3. F. W. C. Weldon—Kilbarry. 1. The test was carried out in pouring rain. Although not at his best, Kilbarry opened with a good walk and throughout was much smoother and softer than usual, with not so clear marking of ordinary and extended gaits. Penalties 103.2. 2. After gaining 32.38 on the steeplechase, they lost 20 for a refusal at No. 7, Kilbarry running out on being shown it at too sharp an angle. The cross-country run was steady, especially at the approaches to the jumps, and the bonus marks were 25.34. Seen at No. 31, which he banked, Kilbarry gave the impression of not having very much in hand. Total -65.48, standing 3rd. 3. Kilbarry and Weldon always dislike this phase, and took it with extreme care, which looked like paying a dividend until Kilbarry tipped the parallel bar with his hind leg; with a silver medal still to be won they went too slowly at the water—to avoid over-jumping the garden enclosure—and stepped right in. Total -85.48. 3rd. Team total -355.48.

Germany. 1. O. Rötke—Sissi. 1. A very patchy test marred by a number of disobediences—breaking several times at the trot, and the half pass, whose high marks surprised everybody. Penalties 98.4. 2. They gained 23.33 on the steeplechase, and on the early part of the cross-country course seemed well set for a big bonus score—they flew the turf bank (No. 5) with the greatest of ease; but they had a refusal at the long water (No. 8), all but fell at No. 10, and then spoilt a strong finish by falling at the last fence. Total -148.04. 3. A good round but for the parallel bars. Total -158.04. 15th.

2. A. Lutke-Westhuis—Trux von Kamax. 1. The horse was stiff and tended to be over-bent, and put up a good many obvious resistances. Penalties 129.6. 2. After going carefully over the steeplechase to gain 20.95 points, they gave a really magnificent across country, taking every obstacle with majestic ease to gain the highest bonus of the day -43.78, which put him second with a total of -64.87. 3. They went too slow at the wall (5) and the water (9), and lost 20 points. Total 84.87. 2nd.

3. K. Wagner—Prinzess. 1. A spectacular entry, but nothing much after that to justify the high marks. There was hardly any extension in any of the gaits, and some disobedience. Penalties 102.4. 2. A slow steeplechase run for 15.7 bonus, and a fairly disastrous cross-country run, with one refusal at 22, and falls at 32 and 33, caused probably through an effort to make up time. 2. A brilliant and carefree jumping display to make the only clear round of the day. Total -233. 21st. Team total -475.91.

Canada. 1. J. Rumble—Cilroy. 1. A smooth test, slowly and carefully ridden. Neither rider nor horse was very experienced, and did better at the trot and canter than at the walk. Penalties 122.8. 2. Both the steeplechase and the cross-country were taken slowly without any falls or refusals, but with a loss of 24 time faults on the later. Total 142.53. 3. There were two obstacles down on the jumping course. Total -162.53. 16th.

2. B. Herbinson—Tara. 1. The horse was not straight in its action and inclined to stumble. Only slight extension was shown. The rider did well to get what he did out of it. Penalties 131.2. 2. This was another slow run, and the rider did well to keep a tiring horse going until the end. They had a refusal at No. 8 and lost 55.5 time faults. Total 206.5. 3. Slowness at the water spoilt a good jumping round. Total -216.5. 20th.

3. J. Elder—Colleen. 1. The horse showed a long walk stride and fair extension at the trot. Transitions were smooth, but standing in the stirrups did not help the canter work. Penalties 141.2. 2. A safe and steady ride with a strong finish. Bonus on the steeplechase was 11.31, but with refusals at 7 and 14 time was lost across country. Total -183.69. 3. A good round which, however, failed at the parallel bars. Total -193.69. 19th. Team total -572.72.

Australia. 1. E. F. Barker—Dandy. 1. Quietly ridden for about the best test this horse has ever done. Transitions were fair, but the gaits were only moderately marked. Penalties 134.4. 2. An indomitable rider and a bold horse had a rough ride, with a fall on the steeplechase course, and one at No. 3, and a refusal at No. 8. Less wild riding would have avoided most of the trouble. Total -296.0. 3. Greater caution could not avoid having the parallel bars (6) and one other down, plus 1 1-2 time faults. Total -317.5. 27th.

2. W. W. Thompson—Brown Sugar. 1. An average test which deserved better marks, if only for the fine extended walk. Transitions were smooth, but there were many weaknesses. Penalties 154.4. 2. The rider did not attempt to press this old horse beyond his natural pace, the result being an excellent clear round with a total of 9.34 bonus marks. Total -145.06. 3. Lack of pace brought down the parallel bars with the off hind, otherwise a good round. Total -155.06. 14th.

3. B. J. Crago—Radar. 1. The rider rode a good test on an experienced horse, particularly good at ordinary and extended canter. Rein back was unsteady and there were some resistances shown. Penalties 124.8. 2. The steeplechase and cross-country courses were well ridden at a stage when the going was greasy and treacherous. They lost marks for time but made no other mistake. Total -137.2. 3. A quiet round, coming to grief, like so many others at the Parallel bars. Total -147.42. 11th. Team total -619.98.

Other Individual Riders

L. Baklychkine—Guimnast (USSR). 1. An average test which had its pleasant moments. The rider was trying to keep a too-rigid control, which was not always successful, notably at the canter. Lateral work was good. Penalties 119.2 1-2. 2. They went slowly over the steeplechase for 6.86 bonus, but let themselves go across country, finishing fresh and unperturbed for 35.69 bonus.

Total -76.65. 3. 20 faults were lost at the parallel bars and water, leaving their position unchanged. Total -96.65. 4th.

R. G. Kroumov—Euphoria (Bulgaria). 1. This was an excessively collected test and the horse's head carriage was very low. The canter movements were the best with good marking of gaits, but transitions were jerky. Penalties 146.0. 2. They jumped big and boldly at a good pace throughout, being lucky with the best of the weather. They were lucky also to miss crashing into a tree after flying the logs at No. 31. Total -101.23. 3. Good fast round with only the wall down. Total -111.23. 5th.

W. B. Mullins-Charleville (Eire). 1. An inexperienced dressage rider—but no novice otherwise—on a comparatively strange mount did as well as could be expected. Extended trots and half pass at the trot were fair. Penalties 166.0. 2. The course generally, and especially the spreads that could be "banked" suited this combination, and they went surely, with plenty of "go" left at the end for a clear round with a total bonus of 31.02. Total -134.98. 3. They made too sharp a turn before No. 4 and had it down, spoiling an otherwise impeccable round and an excellent all-round performance. Total -144.98. 10th.

There were three other clear cross-country rounds. The first was by K. Ozcelik and Eskimo of Turkey, a plodding one with many time faults. They were the only one of the Turkish team to finish and ended 18th with -186.21. The next was by W. G. Staley Jr. and Mud Dauber. After a very indifferent dressage test this was a good performance, if somewhat hair-raising to watch. However, they did not pull out for the third phase. The third was part of a minor tragedy, in that Ian Dudgeon and Copper Coin of Ireland went steadily, easily and light-heartedly—Ian found time to doff his hat to the spectators as they scrambled over the log pile (31)—with every hope of putting their team in the running, only to be told at the end that they were eliminated for going the wrong side of a flag at fence 18. Had a bruised knee not prevented him from walking the course this could never have happened. But for that they had every chance of being second. The third Irish pair, H. Freeman-Jackson and Cellarstown impressed everybody, the grey going at everything with impressive power and looked ready for another round at the end. Surprisingly enough he refused at No. 4 and No. 8. They finished 17th with -170.81.

At the heel of the hunt was a tale of grief and disaster, due mainly to the unpreparedness of both horses and riders. Many did not seem to know what they were doing, and not a few caused their own downfall by pressing their horses beyond their powers. The American venture was, alas!, notably unsuccessful. J. R. Burton and Hunting Field fell at No. 13 and again at last fence, and was taken to hospital with concussion. F. H. Duffy and Drop Dead fell at No. 3, and refused to face No. 8, and so were eliminated. The American dressage marks were as follows: Hunting Field 155.6; Drop Dead 162.4; Mud Dauber 182.0. The other two Turkish riders fell, the first at No. 17, and was taken to hospital with concussion, the second fell at 23, but went on with a broken hip to fall again at No. 33, and also go to hospital.

It is worthy of note that generally those horses which showed up best in the dressage phase were also superior across country, as the marks of the first fifteen horses will show. Perhaps there is something in it after all!

Was the course cruel? On the whole it was not for the properly trained and fit horses. At least half of the entries should have not been allowed to enter, which is the crux of the problem. If you plan an Olympic course for the best riders and horses, and numbers of mediocre or unprepared ones have a go at it, there is bound to be cruelty. What is required is a thorough revision of the rules. I said it after Windsor and I say it again now, after long deliberation, that whips and spurs should be barred from this competition. The good horse properly trained and in harmony with his rider has not needed them, and the knowledge that it will be impossible to cover up inefficiency by flogging and spurring a horse on may well reduce the entries or improve the standard—and this applies to the show jumping too, where some disgraceful sights were seen, of which I shall speak anon.

A good deal of distress was caused by horses being left lying in the trakeener ditch for long periods—though it is fairly certain that the unfortunate Iller had his leg broken while being dragged out and not from the fall. Although this received a lot of publicity it was the least cruel of all the happenings. Here the remedy is in the hands of the jump builders. In jumps of this kind, where deep ditches are involved, all bars, though fixed, must be readily removable, and every such ditch must have a wide exit to one side or the other. Had it been possible to take away the bars at No. 22, most of the horses could have scrambled up.

Great Britain won the team gold medal by steady and consistent riding. Had Kilbarry been at his brilliant best of Basle and Windsor, I think he would have walked away with the individual one; as it was he came very near to it. The Germans have steadily crept up on us since 1954; we shall have to work hard to maintain our position in the years to come. Canada and Australia justified their long trips, and the Russians, with one excellent performance, finished as a team and will have to be seriously reckoned with in the future. The Americans are young and their horses are good, but they seemed unorganised and unschooled. If they could obtain the services of a good European dressage instructor and work hard under him, they could produce a reasonable team. But for every country the lesson of the Olympics is that inefficiency does not pay—and is unfair to the horse.

Book Review

ed the mighty wild boar from a horse with a spear. Pig-sticking is well described in a chapter by Lt.-Col. Arthur Brooke, who gives detailed advice about the proper equipment. Spears, for instance, should be "sharp as razors with points like needles. Messrs. Bodraj, Aurangabad, Deccan, are famous for their hog-spears."

There is nostalgia also in the many old photographs, such as the one showing the then Prince of Wales, young and fresh-faced, playing polo. In another we see Col. Malise Graham on "Broncho," the World War I charger which became, despite his age, a great international jumper, and which would jump all the fences clean unless allowed to indulge his tendency to fall asleep between them!

Yet the book's age does not prevent it from having considerable practical value today. The chapters on riding to hounds and on stable management are both excellent, and there is a fine section on the diseases of the horse by Col. A. C. Todd, once Commandant of the Roaly Army Veterinary School. The passage of time has done real harm only to the chapters on riding, jumping, and—to a lesser extent—schooling.

The chief interest in the section on riding and jumping, however, lies in the way it reflects an era in the world of British horsemanship. That world was rent, in the twenties, by arguments about the "forward seat"—there was a great match race across country between Colonel McTaggart, representing the forward riders, and another officer, whose name escapes us, carrying the standard of the old backward seat. It proved little, as both sides agreed, except that one horse was better than the other; but it showed an apparent interest in the subject. Yet this book makes it clear that the interest was mainly on the surface, because nowhere does General Brooke mention forward riding, Caprilli, the Italian school, or any of the modern ideas which were then making radical changes in the horsemanship of nearly all other countries, and which have since made considerable changes even in Britain. If the General, great horseman that he is, were writing this section of the book today, he would doubtless write it differently.

King Ranch's Assault Will Get Seventh TRA

When Fabius beat Needles in the Preakness, he saw to it that the Triple Crown Trophy would again be awarded retroactively at the TRA annual dinner in December. Next in line for a delayed celebration is King Ranch's Assault who just a decade ago, in 1946, became the seventh horse to run off with the Derby roses, the Preakness black-eyed susans and the flowerless, but nonetheless attractive rewards of the Belmont Stakes. Assault went on to earn the Horse of the Year title and $424,195 obliterating the record for earnings by a 3-year-old which, until then had been held by Gallant Fox who, incidentally, was another Triple Crown winner (1930). Assault's 3-year-old earning record was short-lived—two years later Citation piled up a total of $709,470—but his performance in subsequent years, under handicap conditions, marked him as one of the turf's all-time greats.

Each year some 8,000 Thoroughbreds are bred and each, it is hoped, will be a Triple Crown winner or a stakes winner or a winner. The odds against a gangling little chestnut colt by Bold Venture out of Igual, who romped a paddock on a portion of Texas called King Ranch in the Spring of 1943, were much greater. In the first place his dam had been so sickly and unpromising as a foal she might have been destroyed had not the King Ranch veterinarian, Dr. J. K. Northway, discovered an abscess under her stifle. The cause of her trouble discovered and treated she improved, but never did get to the races. Her first two foals had been nothing to inspire more than normal concern when her colt by Bold Venture ran a surveyor's stake into his hoof. The hoof turned out to be crippled and the colt turned out to be Assault.

Trainer Max Hirsch, a Texan himself, recalls that "When he came up from Texas I didn't think he'd train at all. When he walked and trotted you'd think he was going to fall down. It wasn't hurting him any more but he'd gotten in the habit of favoring and protecting it with an awkward gait."

The hoof injury was similar to a damaged finger-nail that continues to grow with a deformation and it required extreme care when shoes were changed or reset.

Assault was in no great hurry to demonstrate his claim to fame; he won but two of nine starts as a 2-year-old, one of them the Flash Stakes at Saratoga in which he was an unflattering 70 to 1. Among his few backers that day was his trainer, Max Hirsch. When as a 3-year-old Assault stepped out and won the Experimental Handicap and the Wood Memorial Stakes no one seemed to take him seriously; he went off at better than 8 to 1 in the Kentucky Derby and proceeded to win in classic style coming from well off the pace to catch the leaders in mid-stretch and score by eight lengths.

The Preakness was a different story; the favorite for the first time in his career, Assault was almost beaten. After some early interference Jockey Warren Mehrtens made an earlier run and after enjoying a four length lead in the stretch Assault barely lasted to beat Lord Boswell by a neck.

Jockey Mehrtens, now an official at New York tracks, refused to be hurried in the Belmont Stakes and, though five lengths behind Natchez at the eighth pole, Assault zoomed through the final furlong to win by three lengths.

My Babu

My Babu, the top-flight Irish stallion has been purchased by a U. S. Syndicate organized by Leslie Combs II and John W. Hanes, president of the board of trustees of the GNYA. Other members of the syndicate include: Mrs. Hanes, Harry M. Warner, W-L Ranch; Mrs. George P. Greenhalgh, Springsbury Farm, Berryville, Va. George M. Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury; Harry S. Middendorf, Lystra Farm, Hamilton, Mass; Peter A. B. Widener, Elk Hill Farm, Lexington, Ky; Robert W. McIlvain, Walmac Farm, Lexington; Joseph M. Roebling, Harmony Hollow Farm, Harbourside, N. J.; John Hay Whitney, Greentree Farm, Lexington; Mildred W. Woolwine, White Oaks Farm, Lexington; Mrs. Gene Markey, Calumet Farm, Lexington; Mrs. Parker B. Poe, Shawnee Farm, Harrodsburg, Ky., and John W. Galbreath, Darby Dan Farm, Lexington.

Purchased through the Anglo-Irish Bloodstock Agency, acting on behalf of Her Highness Maharani Sita Devi Gaekwar of Baroda, My Babu is regarded by Hanes as the greatest outcross brought into this market in the last 10 years. The 11-year-old stallion, by the French sire Djebel, out of Perfume II by Badruddin, has been preceded to the states by a member of his second crop, Our Babu.

My Babu was the best 2-year-old of his year in Britain in 1947, racing six times and winning the Champagne, Woodcote, Norfolk and Nell Gwyn Stakes and dead-heating with Delirium in the New Stakes. As a three-year-old he won the Craven Stakes, the English 2,000 Guineas, the Sussex Stakes and ran fourth in the Derby. As a four-year-old he won three times and was retired to enter the stud the following year.

The syndicate last September agreed to purchase My Babu at the conclusion of the Irish breeding season, subject to examination by a veterinarian. This inspection showed the stallion to be in perfect condition. He will be flown to the United States on July 8 to stand at Leslie Combs' Spendthrift Farm, his first season being entirely booked to 34 mares belonging to syndicate members.

Increases At Delaware Betting On 'Chasers

The impressive revival of interest in steeplechase racing, first evidenced at the Belmont meeting this season, is reflected strongly in reports on the first week of jumping events at Delaware Park.

Statistics compiled by the United Hunts Racing Association show that favorites have finished first in three of the up-and-over contests. The favorites were in the money in all five events. This generally parallels the figures at Belmont, where jumping favorites won 67 per cent of the time.

The amount of money bet on 'chase events also appears headed for a Delaware record. In the first week alone, $373,971 passed through the mutual windows. A typical gain was noted in the opening feature, the Tom Roby Memorial. A total of $92,116 was wagered on last Monday's race, compared with $78,620 a year ago.

The increased number of 'chasers competing also has had its impact at Delaware. While small fields in some of the first-week events at that track resulted in no-wagering edicts in 1955, the strong entry lists this season have made for livelier racing—and betting.

Dear Sir:

In your issue of March 9th under "Record Distance for a Fox to be Hunted"—No doubt this hunt will interest many Americans and if any sportsman of either sex would care to join me as Joint Master would they please communicate with me to "Foxhunt Abroad" c/o Horse and Hound, 97 Long Acre, London, W. C. Among the other attractions are sulphur baths for those suffering from arthritis or rheumatism, excellent trout fishing, good shooting, wild boar hunting, sailing and sunbathing. An example of a day, prewar in Cornish—4:30 A. M. to 9 A. M. fox-hunting, in car after breakfast trout fishing, on the way back in evening duck flighting. Also the opportunity to hunt hourly at least one day a week.

Yours sincerely, gave concessions of from eleven to 22 pounds to the other nice members of his field.

Duc de Fer sprinted into the lead in the beginning. Royal Game II also showed speed, and Red Hannigan wasn't far back.

Nashua was fourth after the first quarter mile of the race had been completed.

Artismo and Switch On passed Nashua after another furlong or so and Red Hannigan displaced Royal Game II.

With an eighth to go, in the seven-furlong race, Duc de Fer led by a length and a half, but Red Hannigan was bearing down on him swiftly.

The Woodley Lane representative nailed the leader at the sixteenth pole and drew out to win by 1 1-2 lengths. He paid $29.80.

Switch On and Artismo also went past Duc de Fer in the closing yards of the race. Red Hannigan won by 1 1-2 lengths; Switch On was second by a half and Artismo third by three-quarters. Duc de Fer got fourth money.

Nashua finished seventh and continued on to work out a mile (presumably in preparation for the Suburban).

The $40,400 to the winner gives Red Hannigan $44,150 for 1956. It was his second win in 5 starts. He has been third once.

Last year, as a four-year-old, the chestnut won $68,700. His victories were in the Roseben and Bay Shore Handicaps, both at seven furlongs, the distance of the Carter.

In 1954, he dead-heated in the Providence Handicap with Noble Risk.

Red Hannigan is a five-year-old horse by *Heliopolis—War Damsel, by Man o'War. He was bred by the estate of S. D. Riddle.

H. Pardue trains him and P. J. Bailey had the mount in the Carter.

Woodley Lane Farm is the racing name for the partnership of Steven B. Wilson of Providence and Joseph R. Straus and Lafayette Ward of San Antonio.

In line with the current policy among three-year-olds that look good on occasion, Head Man got himself licked in the Shevlin Stakes on June 27.

Those finishing in front of the Whitney horse were Tick Tock, Gray Phantom and St. Amour II. Tick Tock returned $46.40 for $2.

The race is at seven furlongs.

Tick Tock, owned by Howell E. Jackson and bred by the same gentleman's Bull Run Stud, came from well back to win by a neck. Gray Phantom held the same margin over St. Amour II, and that one beat Head Man by a length.

By Double Jay—Early Up, by Sun Again, Tick Tock was racking up his first stakes win. It was worth $16,850, and brings his 1956 total to $21,625. He has 3 wins in 5 tries.

Last year he won once in 7 starts and earned $12,400.

Ed Christmas trains Tick Tock. Bill Boland rode the brown gelding.

Monmouth Park

Charlton Clay's Leallah brought her unbeaten string to three by taking the Colleen Stakes on June 30. The two-year-old daughter of *Nasrullah—Lea Lark, by Bull Lea, won the 5 1-2 furlong race easily by 4 1-2 lengths. The time 1:04 tied the track mark.

Marullah, second choice to the winner, finished second; Alpenrose was third and Cindy F., fourth.

S. Boulmetis rode the winner.

Worth $17,950, the Colleen brought Leallah's earnings to $22,955.

Mackenzie Miller trains the filly. Mr. Clay bred her.

Fresh from victories in the Brandywine and Salvator Mile Handicaps, Skipper Bill scored another in the mile-and-a-sixteenth Long Branch on June 27.

Carrying high weight of 124 pounds, the six-year-old horse caught Cedar Hill in the stretch and won by a neck.

Flying Chief and Sunday Pitch finished third and fourth as listed.

The time of the race was 1:41, a new Monmouth mark for the distance.

Skipper Bill (Errard—Nipmenow, by *Bull Dog) has earned $59,100 in 1956. $11,800 came from the Long Branch.

The six-year-old horse belongs to Darby Dan Farm, and Darby Dan belongs to Mr. J. W. Galbreath, who bred Skipper Bill.

Jack Long trains him. J. A. Regaluto has ridden him to his last three stakes scores.

Last season, Skipper Bill won 6 races and $50,975. He took the Ohio Championship and Princeton Handicaps.

Short Takes of Late Stakes

At Arlington Park, on June 25, Woodlawn won the Pollyanna. On the 27th, Princess Turia took the Cleopatra. Swoon's Son, odds-on choice, scored in the Warren Wright Memorial, on June 30.

Social Climber registered in the Cinema Handicap at Hollywood on June 26. Lucky Mel was home first in the Haggin Stakes, June 28. The Vanity, June 30, went to Mary Machree.

Wise Margin, odds-on choice, clicked in the Blackstone Valley Handicap at Narragansett, June 30.

English Hurdle Horses Invited To Monmouth

A list of 16 horses who were the top performers in four important hurdle events in England and who have been invited to participate in the Midsummer Hurdle Handicap at Monmouth Park, was released today by Chris Wood, Jr. director of hurdle racing here.

One of the horses, Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy's *Square Dance, victorious in the Triumph Hurdle at Hurst Park, already is on the scene at Monmouth, awaiting the August 3 engagement in the Midsummer, which with an endowment of $22,000 is the richest event of its kind in the world.

Other invitees from the Triumph Hurdle were Solon Morn, second, owned by J. Caldwell of Peterborough, England; Quibron, third, owned by L. A. Kirby of Wantage, England and Roman Festival, fourth, owned by Major R. Macdonald-Buchanan, Northampton, England.

From the Imperial Cup at Sandown the invitees include Peggy Jones, winner, owned by Group Captain H. I. Hammer of Nottinghamshire; Parifield, second, owned by C. W. Bell, London; Master Rocky, third, owned by Lady de Mauley, Gloucestershire and Belsay Castle, fourth, owned by Mrs. F. Leech, of Brighton.

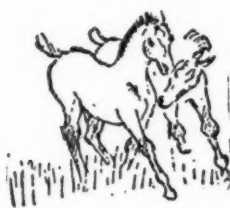

Out of the County Hurdle Handicap at Cheltenham, the invitees were Pomel, winner, owned by Peter Shepherd, Reading Berkshire; Prince Stephen, second, owned by Capt. E. J. Edwards-Heathcote of Somerset; Lively Lord, third, owned by A. Robinson of Northumberland and Clover, fourth, owned by S. Mercer of Staffs.

From the Champion Hurdle Challenge Cup at Cheltenham those invited included Doorknocker, winner, owned by Clifford Nicholson, Gainsborough; Quita Que, second, owned by Mrs. Leslie Brand, Dublin, Ireland; Baby Don, third, owned by M. Kingsley, Cheshire.

Stakes Winners In 1955; Kentucky Leads With 196

A check of the "hometowns" of the 431 Thoroughbreds that won a stakes race last year shows that 373 of them were bred in the United States—in 27 states to be exact.

Kentucky, and the blue-grass region around Lexington in particular, sent forth no less than 196 Stakes winners during 1955.

Second to Kentucky in the matter of breeding stakes winners is California, with 64, and of the stakes won, only eight were for home-breds. Virginia, at one time the cradle of the American Thoroughbred, is again in third place with 20 stakes winners.

Maryland produced 13 stakes winners and in fifth place was Washington, with 12. Other states with stakes-winning representatives are: New Jersey—9; Colorado and Nebraska—7 each; Texas—6; Florida and Oklahoma—5 each; New Mexico, Tennessee, Oregon and Arizona—4 each; and Indiana—2. Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Utah, Alabama, Nevada, Michigan, Louisiana, Illinois, Massachusetts and Kansas each bred one stakes winner.

Of the 58 stakes winners bred outside the U. S., 25 were from Canada; Cuba and Mexico bred 8 each; Ireland—6; Argentina and England—4 each, and France—3.

At the annual meeting of the Loudoun Hunt held June 22, 1956, Mr. Hunton Atwell and Miss Anna F. Hedrick were re-elected Joint Masters for their eleventh season.

Other officers elected were Mr. Thomas E. Taylor, President, Mr. Clayton Kephart, Vice-President, Mrs. Huntington Harris, Honorary Secretary and Mr. Baylor Metzger, Treasurer. Elected to the Board of Governors were Mr. Carroll Hunter and Mr. Clinton Cook. Members of the Board whose terms have not yet expired are Dr. Joseph Rogers, Mr. Merrill Armour, Mrs. Sam Off and Captain Dudley Allen.

EQUESTRIAN OLYMPICS

On the way to the Games at Stockholm, Col. Howard Fair and Mrs. Dean Bedford, President and former President of the United States Pony Clubs, Inc., had lunch with Col. MRS. PARTRIDGE WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

A noted Camden, S. C. sportswoman, who switched from the backs of hunters to the golf links 10 years ago, stunned Connecticut's golfing circle on June 22 when she won the Connecticut Women's Golf Association's 40th anniversary championship at the Country Club of Waterbury.

Mrs. Dwight Partridge, for 24 years MPH of the Camden Hunt, received spectacular praise from Connecticut golfers and golf writers in the state's big daily papers for her feat.

Playing in her first CWGA championship Mrs. Partridge qualified for the title flight on June 18 and then won four straight matches including a 35-hole final match to win the crown from a field of 92 entrants. She amazed onlookers at the tournament with her steady play and stamina. The former horse show exhibitor and fox hunter played 104 holes in her five rounds and was going well at the end although she is well in her 50s. The weather, in the mid-80s on the last day, failed to bother her. She conceded nothing to youth either. Her semi-finals opponent was 18 and the other finalist, Vivian Bobinski, was 26.

It was the first big tournament victory for Mrs. Partridge who told writers covering the event that she has been playing golf "seriously" only for the past 10 years. At her age she is by at least 20 years the oldest woman ever to win the top event for women golfers in Connecticut.

WALKER ELECTED TO JOCKEY CLUB

Joseph Walker, a stockbroker of New York City, was elected to membership in The Jockey Club at a meeting on Thursday, June 21st. He was proposed by John W. Hanes and seconded by George H. Bostwick. Mrs. Walker is a part owner of the Rolling Plains Stable and a daughter of the late Mrs. W. Plunkett Stewart, who won the Belmont Stakes in 1938 with Pasturelized.

McGuinness and Team Manager Lt. Col. Charles Baker were also one time members of the Pony Club. Rumble, Elder and Herblinson were active members from the time they were very small and all three are holders of the not often granted "A" Certificate. In fact, John Rumble with his twin sister Bette, now a judge, were the youngest to ever attain this Certificate which they did at the age of 12 years. MIDWEST MEETING

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Midwest Hunt Race Association, which was scheduled for 10:30 A. M., June 22, at Arlington Park, had to be postponed because of non-arrival of certain delegates, and because of the necessity of sending certain others, scheduled to ride in the Arlington Park Hurdle Stakes, to "purdah", as is the custom for jockeys with a mount at a major track.

It has been postponed to 10:00 A. M., July 20, at the Camargo Club, Cincinnati. The seven member meetings are requested to advise the secretary, Jack Brant, Jr., 435 S. the name of the subscriber selected as authorized representative of the member meeting should be given.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO TO SPORT

While at Mr. Belmont's stud he sired Friar Rock (paternal grand sire of Eight Thirty), Tracery, Rockview, and many other high class horses. proper since it was really the women who put the place across. With only four days of the regular season left the club was deep in the red when some gentlemen approached John Bradley and said they planned to bring a large party over that night. They added that the group would include ladies. Having ladies of quality in a gambling house was unheard of, in those days, and E. R. sternly objected but finally gave in, when he realized that the club was going to close anyhow and they might as well be as accommodating as possible. The ladies were admitted, gambled and loved it, went out and enthusiastically told other ladies. The rest is history.

That happened when Miss Anne Morgan, the mother of modern pugilism (it had no father) announced to ship news reporters on her return from France, after World War I, that she certainly was going to see that brave poliu, Gorgeous Georges Carpentier, wallop our own Jack Dempsey. Immediately every society dame in town began demanding fight tickets, to Tex Rickard's keen delight, and the $1,000,000 gate was born, right there in Boyle's Thirty Acres at Jersey City."
